Keynote Session

Friday, February 28, 2014; 8:30-10:00 a.m.

Meeting the Mental Health Needs of Students in Our Schools: Achieving Our Potential

The unmet needs of students in our schools with significant mental health conditions are receiving more widespread recognition from educators and others across this country and beyond. While some models stress the importance of bringing traditional mental health providers into the school setting, others emphasize the current potential of current resources within our schools that must not be overlooked. This keynote address will focus on emerging trends in meeting these needs.
